Editorial Comment

What a combination there is in the magic words, “Lake Geneva” and “Winnepesaukee!” Such stretches of water, majesty of mountain, wealth of forest, and abundance of wild life! What sky lines and far-flung horizons, fleecy clouds and starry sky, shimmer of moonlight and sun-kissed breezes! And all in all woven into, about and around Sunday-school training. Truly, the day of the youth of the church is here.

This number of Conference Pointers and the next number will deal with the records of the summer, of the Camps of the Fourfold Life and of the Hundred Fires at both Geneva and Winnepesaukee. History was made during the summer, and these records are the beginnings of its slowly crystallizing story. The real records are told in the bigger ideals, the fuller enthusiasm, and the home and church tasks better understood and more efficiently met. The seven hundred in college are added to because of the summer’s challenge.

The plans of the next season for the Camps of the Fourfold Life and the Hundred Fires are already under way, and Conference Point and Winnepesaukee promise bigger and better things than ever. Get your registration in early and do not be among the disappointed ones when summer is here again. A little later the Editor will write a word of appreciation about the season just closed. Now we face forward to a bigger, better, and more enthusiastic camp for 1921.

Procras T. Nation has long had a reputation for being a miserable thief. Keep your eye on him, you campers with prescriptions to fill, or he’ll rob you of your place in next summer’s camp. Get busy right away.

Size doesn’t mean anything at all. The big man has his advantages and disadvantages, ditto the small man. Both are capable of BIG things. The two runts on the cover page are Mutt—Waldrow Kindig, Napoleon, Ohio; Jeff—Elbert Newton DuPuy, West Virginia.

"MOTHER SHOGREN"

"We have read of the mothers of the days
of long ago,

With their gentle wrinkled faces, and their hair as white as snow.

They were middle-aged at forty, and at fifty donned lace caps

And at sixty clung to shoulder shawls and loved their little naps.

"But I love our Conference Mother who has shared in all our joys,

And who understands the problems of her hundred girls and boys.

She may boast that she is forty, but her heart is twenty-three,

My chum and tender-hearted Mother who is keeping young with me."

1920 State and Provincial Standing

S. F. Shattuck Trophy Contest

Following is the standing of the leading states in the State and Provincial Trophy Contest. The S. F. Shattuck Shield is awarded to the delegation that makes the best score in the four points of the contest. These points are (a) Athletics and Aquatics; (b) Letters; (c) Pennants or Pillow Tops; (d) Notebooks. The award is made on the basis of individual achievement. The average of the group along the above four lines determines the winning delegation. The maximum credits total 4,000 points, or 1,000 each for Athletics and Aquatics, Letters, Notebooks and Awards.

MY FIRST IMPRESSIONS

I HAD often heard of Lake Geneva as a camp promoted by the International Sunday School Association for boys and girls sixteen and over, but aside from that, I was not curious enough to ask more questions. I wish now that I had had a woman's curiosity, and had found out more—I would have been a senior this year if I only had. But I lived my little life in my little circle, unconscious of what I was missing. Now I have found out and the path of my life has broadened as a result.

When some one visits a place for the first time, his impressions of the spot are interesting. The impressions gleaned from the whole course at Geneva so eclipse those first impressions that, in a lapse of four months, the first day's observations are rather dim, but I shall endeavor to call up the past. I had the great misfortune to arrive at camp during a drizzling rain, and my eagerness was not to explore but to find a warm, dry spot. Lake Geneva has them. There are cheery places at Lake Geneva for everybody, and everybody who is a camper has a warm spot in his heart for camp. The clouds having lifted, I strolled around, gathering my first impressions. In doing so, I had to button my coat a little tighter for the rain had brought a cold wave with it, and as I stood on the hill and looked out on the white-capped waves of Lake Geneva, I half resolved to mutiny before I would plunge in those waters at seven o'clock. How foolish I was to cherish such a thought, but I was unversed in the ways of the Indian then. I wandered down to the pier and stood looking at some of the unfortunates that were making a pretense of enjoying a swim, when a little round-faced man in a white suit came by and I recognized Kinji. I had seen the great Chief! In the bottom of my heart I felt as though I should do as Moses did when he was on holy ground—remove my shoes, but again I was not an Indian camper. For Kinji is not a saint, but a true sport, a big brother to all, as you will come to know next summer. I was carried on with the crowd and found myself on the end of the dock waiting for a boat to come in. Not knowing what sort of boat was due, I stood there scanning the further shore for some sea craft, when music and shouts came over the waters and were answered by the group on the edge of the pier. Nearer and nearer the venerable old boat came, until some one shouted, "Hi, there Kinji!" and we would hear "Hello there, Pep" or "Stud" or "Ben" or "Hank" and the other older campers. I was beginning to catch the spirit of the occasion and let out a yell of greeting to the whole boat load, and then turned sheepishly to see if I had been observed. I had not, for they couldn't hear me, all were doing the same thing. The boat docked, and without waiting for the plank to be placed, several "young Indians" jumped the intervening distance to greet Kinji and Dad and the other leaders. Soon acquaintanceships had begun to ripen into friendships as the fellows remembered each other and we turned to go. As the boat rounded the turn and I saw the happy fellows, I longed for the time when I too, should hear Kinji's "Hello there, Bob!" and could feel with a sense of pride that they remembered me. I had gathered enough first impressions to begin to catch the spirit of the Camp, which is that of service and love for the other fellow. And as I lived through those two glorious weeks, so fraught with inspiration, I resolved to let the spirit of Geneva guide my actions in life.

Were my first impressions of the right kind? When you come there for the first time, you, too, will glean first impressions, which I hope will develop into the keynote of the camp and in turn into the guiding principles of your life.

And I'll be there to meet you!

1914 to 1920

IT IS with a great deal of pleasure that I look back to the days of 1914 and especially to the days spent on the Hilltop at Lake Geneva in the Older Boys' Camp-Conference. Here it was brought home to me that I might be of some use to the boys with whom I was acquainted. The Camp was an entirely new experience to me, for I had a very selfish idea that I was the individual and that I was the "whole push." Here I met boys from all over the country who had somewhat the same idea. By the end of the first day we were welded into groups and had lost some of our egotistic ideas in the great thought of teamwork. Actual teamwork with fellows whom I had never seen before, fellows from Alabama, Canada, Pennsylvania, in fact from fifteen different states and provinces, was in itself an eye opener to me. Here I was able to meet and form contacts and friendships with dozens of fellows from all parts of the country.

I hardly need to say more of the fine spirit I found, for it changed my whole viewpoint on life. I went back from Camp that year with a determination to do something and to make myself useful. It was not because I had gained any of the much coveted honors that were given; it was a conviction that I had been a "hanger on." May I say that it was a blow that I did not receive any honors, but this was the very best thing for I still had some things to learn.

The next year was planned, and camp was the outstanding thing on next summer's program. I was determined to go back and again meet my newly made friends and to make good. My ambition was carried out, all except the "making good" part. Again I met my old friends and also many new friends from many other parts of the country.

The same camp spirit caught hold of me and gave me a new start for the whole year. My college work was strengthened. I took a class in the Sunday School and also some work in the Y. M. C. A. In this way I found an outlet for the feeling that I should be of some use. The Camp was an inspiration and a help. Again I found that I was not ready to take my place in the honor group, which was a much needed jolt.

I found that the camp had meant much to me not only at camp itself, but also at home. Thus I made plans to go for the third consecutive year and, for some unknown reason, I was selected to lead one of the groups. This was a great surprise and a great chance to make good. Again the fellowship impressed me greatly. It was teamwork for Jesus. The great good that Geneva has done for me is only one example of the result in the lives of hundreds of boys and girls all over the continent. I enjoyed the third year best for it meant graduation from the ranks of the campers, but with a new found idea of the usefulness that one could make of his life. The same year I graduated from college with no well defined idea formed of my place in life. Teaching school was the opening I sought, for it would give me time to think and to adjust myself to new world conditions and think I did. The result was I found that my few years at the Lake Geneva Camp had made their imprint on my life.

Again last summer I went to Geneva as a graduate leader, and there it was finally driven home to me that my place was in the very thing for which the camp stood, namely, teaching the "Jesus Way" of living. From camp I went into the field work and for a period of four months worked with young people. I found that I lacked some educational qualifications, so this finds me at my desk at Boston University completing a course so that I may go out into the field permanently in the near future.

I wish to mention one more thing, which is to pay tribute to the wonderful leaders that one comes in contact with at the camp. They are drawn from all parts of the continent and are the pick of boys' and girls' leaders all over North America—men who are at the top of their special fields of work.

Now, as I look at the growth of the enterprise in the last six years, it is a revelation to me. First, Lake Geneva, and now we see Lake Winnepesaukee. What will the camp mean to you, new campers? It is possible that it may place more leaders in the field of Young People's Work. It will mean fellowship. It will mean a vision of the true Christian life, as it has to me. It will mean friendship, and, finally, it will mean usefulness in the Kingdom of God.

North Dakota's Acid Test

THAT it is becoming increasingly difficult to get into the International Camp-Conferences is evidenced by the following plan which was used this year by the North Dakota State leaders to safeguard the quality of their delegates: To the Pastor or Sunday School Superintendent:

The delegates who go to the Older Boy and Older Girl Camp Conferences must be the outstanding leaders among the young people of the Sunday School. The number of applicants for the conference is far in excess of the quota which has been allotted to the state. To wisely select those who shall go, we ask your help. Will you give us your best answers to the following questions:

Name of applicant.....

Do you consider the applicant one of your best young people?.....

Rate the applicant as "poor," "fair," "good," or "excellent," on the following points:

Mentality.....; Personality.....; Personal appearance.....; Social ability.....; Musical ability.....; Leadership.....; Health.....; Christian service.....; The measure of help he or she renders the Sunday School class.....; Sunday School.....; church.....

Remarks:.....

(Your answers are to be placed in the enclosed envelope, sealed and returned to the applicant, who will send it in with the examination papers.)

Signed.....

Instructions to the Applicant.

Because of the limited number of delegates which North Dakota is permitted to send to the Older Boy and Older Girl Camp Conferences, it is necessary to resort to a competitive examination, in order that we may be able to select the delegates that will bring back the largest contribution to their schools and communities.

You are to answer the questions and return them within ten days to C. A. Armstrong, 1703 Cheyenne Ave., Grand Forks, N. Dak.

You may consult with your pastor, Sunday school superintendent, or teacher relative to your answers.

2. You are to hand the enclosed sealed envelopes to your pastor and superintendent without opening. They will fill out the required information and return it to you. You will enclose their envelopes with your examination papers. If your pastor or superintendent is away, then return the envelopes unopened.

3. Your examination papers will be looked over by three men. Their decision will be final, and you will receive word soon after as to whether or not you are among the fortunate ones to go to the camp.

Competitive Examination, Lake Geneva Older Boy and Older Girl Conferences.
